Santa Ana Payroll Increases Show Employment Gain

LARGE SUMS OF CASH TO BE RELEASED

Merchants Of District To Benefit By Huge Increase In Pay Envelopes
BANKS REPORT GAINS
Demand For Payroll Money For Oct. 1 Almost Double Former Months

SUBSTANTIAL increase in employment of persons in the Santa Ana district was reflected today in considerable increases of new currency received by local banks to meet first of the month payrolls, which means hundreds of thousands of dollars for trade here next week.

Three banks contacted in Santa Ana reported a definite increase in demand for payroll money, indicating that more persons are now working than have been for some time.

The First National bank in Santa Ana reported an increase of $45,000, nearly double the amount ordinarily used to finance payrolls for firms and farmers in this section. Fifty thousand dollars has been taken care of the payrolls at the First National bank in past months, but the demand suddenly jumped up to $95,000 for October 1 payrolls.

An increase of $30,000 for the first of October payrolls was reported by the Security-First National bank here. Fluctuating figures on payrolls made it impossible to determine the exact amount to be expended on October 1 for payrolls from this bank, officials said.

A steady increase in demands for payroll money was reported by the Commercial National bank. It was explained that most of the payrolls handled through the Commercial National bank are done through checking accounts, making it difficult to set the amount paid out in monthly payrolls.

Bankers attributed most of the gain to seasonal work in the harvesting of beans and walnuts throughout the county, although a definite improvement has been noticed in retail business as well.

SALT RIVER VALLEY THREATS REVEALED
PHOENIX, Ariz., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Threats of an embargo and boycott against Japanese farm products today stirred the Salt River Valley, scene of recent violence in the controversy between American and Oriental farmers.

Shintaro Fukushima, Japanese vice consul in Los Angeles, arrived here to investigate the threats and also to inquire into a statement attributed to a member of the anti-Alien association that "Japanese are going to leave the valley."

Independent Thinking In U.S. Growing

President Tells Women's Conference Pay Little Heed To Gossip
WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—(UP)—President Roosevelt feels that gossip-mongers and rumors from anonymous sources are hampering intelligent discussion of current problems.

In a message to the fourth annual Women's Conference on Current Problems, meeting in New York City, the President last night directed attention to the growth of independent thinking in the past two years and the part played by false reports in confusing the situation.

"More and more people are doing their own thinking," he said. "The number of poll-parrots in our midst is steadily declining — for which we must be very thankful. More and more men and women are looking up their own facts and forming their own opinions."

"We are learning to discriminate between news and rumor. As a people we put our tongues in our cheeks when a fact or a series of facts are distorted, no matter what motive is the cause of that distortion."

"We as a people pay small attention to those gossip mongers who invent tales, generally with a selfish objective behind the tales," he declared.

As an example of this type of rumor, the president cited one "which occurred this very day."

"A rumor started in Wall Street and spread to Chicago, came back to Washington for verification. The rumor was the immediate retirement of three members of my cabinet—the secretary of agriculture and his undersecretary, the secretary of labor and the secretary of the treasury."

"The origin of the report comes from what is politely called an 'anonymous source.' I urge that everyone of you consider and analyze the source and motive back of every report you read."

Mr. Roosevelt declared that the bulk of the American people paid no attention to this type of rumor and emphasized that the report he cited was wholly untrue.

PROSECUTOR AND DEFENDER

Below are left, Samuel Foley, district attorney of Bronx county, New York and James M. Fawcett, New York attorney, who has been retained by Mrs. Hauptmann to defend her husband Bruno in his impending trial on charges of extortion. Foley will prosecute for the state of New York.

HAIGHT WARNS VOTERS NOT TO BE FRIGHTENED BY ROOSEVELT

Says Merriam Can't Beat Sinclair But Confident That He Can
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Raymond L. Haight, Commonwealth-Progressive nominee for governor, today directed an appeal to the "great middle class of voters" against being frightened by the "bugaboo of Sinclair created by the Merriam camp."

Reiterating that he has no intention of withdrawing from the race, Haight predicted a "class war of major proportions" if either of the major party candidates is elected.

"I know that the great majority of the people of the state are sick and tired of being governed by a group of financial barons. For that reason, I know they will never place Frank Merriam in the governor's chair," Haight declared.

"I believe that that same majority of the people do not desire to follow the untied extreme of political and economic change advocated by Upton Sinclair."

"It is my firm opinion that this vast majority ask only that they be given security in their work, justice in the dealings with their fellow men and common honesty in government. These are the things I offer the people of California."

Haight claimed he had been approached with the proposition to withdraw in favor of Gov. Merriam in exchange for "immediate appointment as president of the railroad commission." As a next step in the proposed deal, he asserted, he would be appointed to succeed U. S. Senator Hiram Johnson upon the latter's second term to the U. S. supreme court bench. Arrangements for Johnson's bench appointment already have been agreed on, Haight declared.

"Frank Merriam can't beat Sinclair, Haight or no Haight," the nominee said, "but Haight can beat Sinclair, Merriam, or no Merriam."

Suicide By Suspect Is Now Feared

Guard Placed About Cell As Sharpened Spoon Is Found This Morning
NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Investigation of friends of Bruno R. Hauptmann and of indications that several persons were involved in the Lindbergh kidnapping proceeded rapidly today with federal agents and police rounding up all possible witnesses for questioning.

One man, a friend of Hauptmann, was taken by federal agents and police to the office of District Attorney Samuel Foley shortly after noon.

Federal agents emphasized that he was not under arrest and that he-like various others—was questioned as to the possibility that they had acquired some of the ransom money from Hauptmann and had, unwittingly, passed it.

Federal agents, who were accompanied by New York and New Jersey police, said the man's name would come from Foley. He is a German.

Many Rounded Up
All of the persons rounded up were taken before various tradespeople in the Bronx who have, at one time or another, taken in some of the ransom money.

These persons were to try to identify Hauptmann's friends as some who passed ransom money. The informal appearance of the witnesses at Foley's office assumed greater proportions during the afternoon and it was considered an important stage of the search for possible accomplices.

Dr. J. F. Condon, the ransom intermediary, was expected to be one of those to view the witnesses and it was said that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh also might participate.

The investigator's best hints as to a possible accomplice have been given in their search for a stoop-shouldered man and a woman, described as a "Latin" both of whom were supposed to have been at the ransom scene.

Developments
Other developments today: 1. Discovery of a spoon, missing after one of Hauptmann's jail meals, in a drain in his cell. The spoon had been sharpened at one end and bent. It was in four pieces when found. Jailers declined to comment on suggestions that Hauptmann had sharpened the spoon in contemplation of suicide.

CARDINALS WIN AND DEADLOCK LEAGUE'S RACE

"Dizzy" Dean Pitches Shut-Out Ball Beating Cincinnati 4 To 0
SPORTSMANSPARK, ST. LOUIS, Sept. 28.—(UP)—The 1934 race for the National league pennant was tied in a knot today by the St. Louis Cardinals when they defeated the Cincinnati Reds, 4 to 0, this drawing up on even terms with the New York Giants at 93 games won and 58 lost.

Both the Cardinals and Giants have two games more to play, the former with the Reds, the latter with the Brooklyn Robins. If they both sweep their remaining games, a three game playoff will be held.

"Dizzy" Dean had the Reds under control at all times, never allowing more than one hit in any one inning.

The St. Louis Cardinals took the lead in the third inning when Frisch doubled to center after two were put and scored on Medwick's triple.

This was enough to win the game although two runs were scored in the fourth and another in the seventh.

Manager Frankie Frisch announced that he would pitch Paul (Daffy) Dean tomorrow and "Dizzy" would be put back in again Sunday.

Today's victory was a personal triumph for Jerome Herman (Dizzy) Dean, who achieved his 25th victory of the year—a modern record for the National league. The American league record of 30 games in one season is held by Robert (Lefty) Grove of the Boston Red Sox.

ATTEMPTS AT MASS MURDER ARE PROBED
DANVERS, Mass., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Fear of an attempt at mass murder in the Danvers state hospital was investigated today by state detectives who sought among the 140 inmates a person suspected of mixing a deadly poison with powdered sugar.

One patient was dead and 13 employees were saved by immediate treatment after eating hard sauce served with pudding Wednesday. Hugh Foye, 41, of Andover, chef's helper, died several hours after he had tasted the sauce, hospital authorities said. Rufus Flint, a chef, also was stricken after tasting the sauce which was to be served to 300 employees. He was saved by immediate treatment.

CHINA OFFERS ALL SILVER TO UNITED STATES

Proposes To Exchange All White Metal Holdings For Gold In Note
(Copyrighted 1934 by United Press)
CHANGHAI, Sept. 28.—(UP)—The Chinese national government, in a note to the United States, intimated strongly that it may be forced to adopt the gold standard because of the American silver policy, the United Press learned exclusively today.

This intimation was contained in the second note dispatched by H. H. Kung, finance minister, to the United States in demanding an immediate clarification of the administration's plans regarding silver, the basic metal of the Chinese currency system.

Authoritative circles said the note, sent September 24, makes the astonishing offer to sell to the United States all of China's vast silver holdings in exchange for gold.

This could be accomplished by placing an embargo on exports and paying banks a premium for delivering their holdings in the government. It was explained in financial circles.

The United States practice of buying silver is deflating Chinese currency, a condition which the national government "can not permit," the note supposedly said.

It then hints that in self defense China may follow recommendations that it adopt the gold standard, basing a new currency on a five to one ratio against the present United States dollar, the United Press learned.

NEW GROUP ORGANIZED IN CAPITAL

Col. George A. Lynch Will Continue As Administrative Officer, Said
RICHBURG EXPLAINS
Newly Created Committee Will Act In Advisory Capacity To President

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—(UP)—Clay Williams today was named chairman of the national industrial recovery board the new organization created to take over General Hugh S. Johnson's duties.

Leon C. Marshall, executive secretary of the board, explained that Col. George A. Lynch had been requested to continue as recovery administrative officer. Lynch previously had been the indicated chairman.

Williams is former president of the Reynolds Tobacco company. The following letter from Marshall was received at the White House:

"Dear Mr. President: "The national industrial recovery board has organized today by electing Mr. Clay Williams, chairman, and Mr. Leon C. Marshall executive secretary."

"Col. George A. Lynch has been requested by the board to continue to serve as administrative officer of the national recovery administration."

Richburg Explains
Donald R. Richburg, head of the administration's emergency organization setup, announced that the newly created committee will act in an advisory capacity to the president to coordinate the administration of policies by all governmental agencies.

Richburg said reorganization of NRA was proceeding along lines previously agreed upon by himself and Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator.

Text of Richburg's statement explaining the responsibilities of the reorganized industrial emergency committee:

"Neither I, as director, nor the industrial emergency committee as a whole, is going to 'run the National Recovery Administration.' The president has created the national industrial recovery board to administer title 1 of the national industrial recovery act. He has conferred upon the board all the powers previously delegated by executive orders to the administrator for industrial recovery."

"When the administrator was originally appointed by executive order, dated June 16, 1933, his authority was made 'subject to the general approval of the special industrial recovery board.' Carrying out the same idea, the newly created board of administration is authorized to perform its functions."

They was afraid to come and get it under Johnson.

The President has picked five men to replace Johnson and run the N.R.A. I think that's what these police chiefs are all doing here. They are going to help him arrest the men that he appoints, for nobody would take a job like that voluntarily.

COSTA MESA, Sept. 28.—A. B. Jesse, manager of the Balboa branch of the Bank of America, spoke on "The National Housing Act Plan" at the Lions club session Tuesday, pointing out some of the rules and regulations that have been adopted.

All the security asked thus far by the government for the financing of renovating projects is the trustworthiness and honesty of the borrower, he stated. Other phases of the plan are being worked out, he said. A round-table discussion followed the talk. Walter Spicer introduced the speaker.

An attendance prize, a bundle of shingles, the first of a series of prizes to be given during the coming weeks, was won by a visitor, E. A. Spaulding. Walter Spicer was the donor. Charles Twinkie agreed to furnish the prize for next week's meeting.

It was announced that B. Z. McKinney, candidate for district attorney, will be the chief speaker next Tuesday, using as his theme, "The Challenge of Democracy and Religion."

found in the lavatory drain and part in the washbowl drain.

The spoon was broken into four parts when found. The bowl of the spoon had been flattened out and sharpened. It was in two parts, had been bent into a hook.

Jailers would not discuss either the possibility of suicide or a jail break attempt.

However, it was announced that Hauptmann henceforth would eat with paper plates and utensils. He also was moved to another cell and a 24-hour guard was placed over him.

One report quoted a jailer as saying the prisoner appeared to be in a mood which would make suicide likely. He seldom talks, seldom asks for anything and spends most of his time pacing his cell or just standing and staring at the floor.

FARMERS ASK SOIL EROSION PROJECT HERE

Practically every farmer in the El Toro district signed a petition last night at a meeting in the El Toro grammar school asking the government to establish a United States Soil Erosion service project to demonstrate control of soil erosion in Orange county.

Harry Reddick, government engineer in charge of soil erosion work in California, addressed the meeting, describing soil erosion and control methods and answering questions from the audience. "Erosion is always going on and always will," the government engineer said. "Rain, frost and wind are eternally at the task of leveling the earth's surface. What the soil erosion service is attempting to do is to control accelerated erosion, or what one might term man-made erosion. The natural balance established between vegetation, degree of slope and rainfall is distributed when the natural vegetative cover is removed."

He emphasized the fact that to date 25 projects are under way in states where soil erosion has assumed menacing proportions. He said it is reliably estimated that the amount of plant food lost by erosion is 26 times the amount removed from the nation's farms by the crops grown and harvested on them.

In California, he said, most of the erosion is caused by rain, falling on slopes bare either by fire or cultivation, carrying away the surface soil which contains the food necessary for plant growth. Re-vegetation of these slopes is considered to be one of the most important control methods being used.

Erosion in the El Toro district offers the same type of problem as in areas south of Los Angeles. It was brought out, and the establishment of a station here would serve for the entire district.

PASTOR PREDICTS SINCLAIR VICTORY

"Mud-slinging tactics of the Republicans in the state governmental election advertise the fact that their cause is lost," the Rev. Edwin O. Colbeck declared in an address last night at Democratic headquarters.

"We are going through a revolution now," he alleged, "but it is a bloodless revolution because the people are doing enough thinking to vote intelligently and are not being stampeded into voting as the capitalists are trying to scare them into voting by subsidizing preachers like Martin Luther Thomas, who refer to Sinclair as an atheist and criminal."

The speaker said it is his belief that "we can have heaven here in California without waiting for it elsewhere if Upton Sinclair is able to end poverty in California." He said that if Christ should come to Los Angeles today and preach the things He did 2000 years ago He would be arrested as Sinclair was when he attempted to read the Constitution on a vacant lot in San Pedro.

Sinclair has not protested against the teachings of Christ, the Rev. Colbeck said, but the indifference of organized religion to the real teachings of Christ.

TOOTH, BONES OF MASTODON FOUND IN WELL

The tooth of a mastodon, which roamed the vast reaches of Southern California in a prehistoric age, was discovered the first of the week at the ranch of Lloyd Edwards, Orange Park acres, east of Orange, while Edwards was putting down a well in a small draw on his property. The tooth is about 15 inches long and 10 inches across, and is now at the Fullerton Junior college, a student of this institution having become interested in the tooth which was shown to him by one of the workmen engaged in digging the well.

According to Dr. Mabel Myers, instructor in geology and biology sciences at the Fullerton college, the tooth has not positively been identified but there is little doubt that it was once set in the great mouth of a mastodon. Two pieces of leg bone have been brought up in the course of digging the well since the discovery of the tooth, and these fragments are each about five or six inches long and about three inches across. The well is being dug with aid of a small windlass.

Edwards has promised to notify Dr. Myers at the Fullerton college if more of the skeleton of the pre-historic beast is uncovered. The bones are tinged with a reddish brown deposit in which they have lain for many thousands of years, the deposit being the residue of a river which at one time probably flowed through what is now a tiny dry draw, on its way to the sea.

The mastodon, with the sabre-toothed tiger and the little three-toed horse, were found in America from the middle Miocene to the late Pleistocene period. It is the extinct elephant, differing from the modern species in a number of ways and especially in the construction of its molar teeth. According to Dr. Myers, the animal was about the size of a large elephant of this age.

Horton asked for probation and will receive a hearing next Friday.

Having pleaded guilty to a charge of drunk driving June 27 at Orange, Randolph Trullio, truck driver, was granted probation for two years, on condition that he spend 30 days in the county jail. No license was made by the court on license suspension or further auto operation.

RELIANCE TITLE COMPANY OPENS ATTRACTIVE NEW BUILDING HERE SATURDAY

Formal opening of the attractive new Reliance Title company and Security Title Insurance and Guarantee company building and offices, located at 312 North Main street, will be held tomorrow from 2 until 9 p. m., it was announced today.

The new building is now ready for occupancy after construction work has been going on since April 15.

An investment of about $40,000 is represented in the building, which is the property of Walter L. Moore. Construction of the building, with resultant improvement of the property, was brought about through cooperation of the Reliance Title company which has a long-time lease on the building.

John A. Harvey, president of the Reliance company, explained that the building was constructed to provide more room for the transaction of increased business. It became impossible for the 22 persons employed to work in the former location at 312 North Broadway, he said.

The lower floor is occupied by a modern title plant, while the second floor is occupied by the law firm of Harvey and Harvey. Another law firm, to be announced later, will occupy offices on the second floor. A third floor is provided for storage. A separate ground floor room facing Main street is to be occupied by a financial company.

Attractive, Comfortable
Constructed under the rigid earthquake code, the building is one of the most attractive in the city. Marble front and floors add to the dignity of the appearance. Pictures and furniture is of black walnut. The most modern vaults, ventilating and heating systems, fire-proofing, and other features have been made part of the building, including indirect lighting systems.

Paintings will decorate the walls, exhibited by the Laguna Beach Art association in the main offices on the lower floor. Special hangers were built into the walls to accommodate the oil paintings.

"On the occasion of its tenth anniversary the Reliance Title company is happy to announce the removal of its offices to the Reliance building," a statement made by President Harvey said. "The company takes pardonable pride in the fact that during the first 10 years of its existence the character of the service rendered has found favor with the people of Orange county to the point where larger quarters were imperative to adequately care for its increasing volume of business."

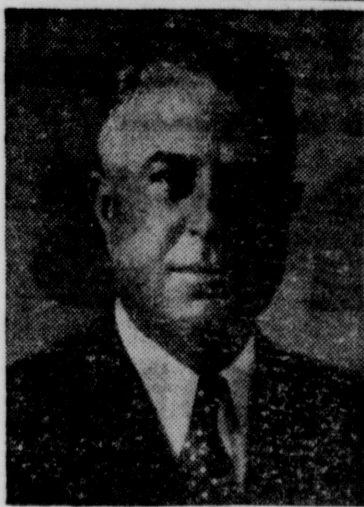

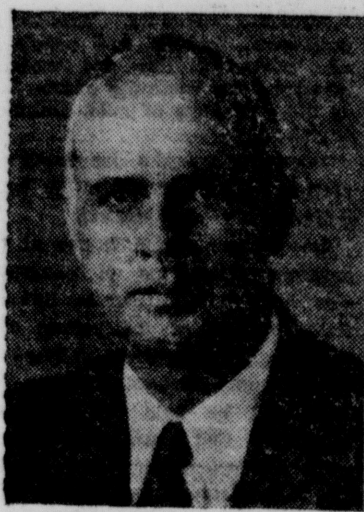

Recall Founding
Organized in 1924 by John A. Harvey, the company operated independently for four years. Then, realizing the existing need for more adequate title protection an affiliation was formed in 1928 with the Security Title Insurance and Guarantee company, which brought to the people of this community one of California's strongest and most progressive title insurance companies, title policies backed by millions in resources and statewide connections facilitating transactions in other counties without additional cost, it was stated.

"As in the past decade," Harvey said, "so through future years, the purpose and policy of these institutions will be to maintain friendly relations with the citizens of this community and to serve them efficiently and well. The new Santa Ana office is an expression of faith in the future of Orange county and the desire to contribute a part in the realization of that faith."

Officers of the Reliance Title company are: John A. Harvey, president; William S. Porter, vice president; Roy E. Vincent, vice

CONTEST OVER BEACH OIL WELL BEFORE COURT

A missing deed and a dispute over the question of signing an oil royalty agreement with the state, in connection with a "whipstock" well at Huntington Beach, were rumored to be in the background of a family contest over title to the property in question, which was under way in superior court today before Judge L. N. Turrentine, of San Diego.

Mrs. Dinah Ford, of Huntington Beach, and the W. K. Oil company, holders of a lease on the property, were on one side of the case, with Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Dixon, Mrs. Dixon being a daughter of Mrs. Ford, on the other side. The Dixons are record owners of the property and granted the lease now held by the W. K. company.

The title contest developed, it was said, when the W. K. company and the Dixons could not agree upon terms of a royalty agreement with the state; so that an attempt is now being made to win the title back to Mrs. Dixon's mother, former owner, who is reputed to be ready to sign a royalty agreement as the W. K. company desires.

Mrs. Ford, former owner, deeded the property to the Dixons some years ago. She now is said to claim that when the deed was made, another deed was made by the Dixons in her favor, and was given to her to hold. She placed it in a safety box but did not record it, reports state. Recently, when the dispute arose, and she went to obtain her deed, it was missing, according to reports of the case.

When the state appeared with its whipstock drilling charges some months ago and started signing operators to royalty agreements, the W. K. company and the Dixons both were willing to sign, it was said, but the Dixons wanted their existing royalty, undisputed. The W. K. company, undisturbed, objected to taking all of the state royalty out of its share of production, so a deadlock occurred. Then came the move to recover the title for Mrs. Ford.

Attorney George Bush, representing the Dixons, said today that he expected the action also to develop into an injunction proceeding, in an effort to prevent the Dixons from declaring the W. K. lease forfeit.

The proceedings are an offshoot of the "omnibus" whipstock case, known as the H. E. Allen Trust case, but actually involving about 750 defendants and 50 wells.

Stinson is a dramatic tenor, a protégé of Mme. Ernestine Shumann-Heink, and as a member of the state highway patrol has attained an extensive reputation as the "singing cop." Dr. F. E. ### HOUSING PLAN WORK TO START IS EXPLAINED NEXT WEEK ON TO MERCHANTS NEW H. S. PLANT

ANAHEIM, Sept. 28.—Details of the federal housing act were explained here by F. W. Marlowe, director of the division of better housing of the national emergency council, who was the guest speaker at the regular luncheon session of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association, Builders' supply men and contractors of the city were special guests at the meeting.

After explaining the federal housing act in detail and outlining its operation, Marlowe explained why the act was approved apparently to aid just the construction industry. He said that this was done after investigation revealed that one out of every four laborers is employed in some phase of this industry and the construction industry building material. Through assisting this industry the entire business structure and recovery is aided, he pointed out.

Marlowe said that next to agriculture building is the largest industry in the nation. Stimulation of this industry will probably be the greatest factor in putting private business back on its feet, he said. Marlowe said that government red tape has been eliminated in administration of this measure to the extent that money is issued within 10 minutes after the loan is approved. The loan endorsement is left to the local banker. He said that within 20 hours after his return from the final conference in Washington before the act was passed the first loan was made in Los Angeles. There have been 900 loans, totaling a half million dollars, made in Southern California during the past two weeks, the speaker said.

Explaining provisions of the act the speaker said that property owners can obtain from $100 to $2000 without security. A lessee may obtain a loan if his lease has a six months continued term. One of the few rules laid down governing these loans is that the borrower's gross income must amount to five times the annual payment on the note. The bankers are insured against a 20 per cent loss.

The only requirements in use of the loan are that it must be for permanent improvements. This term, however, according to Marlowe, is broad in its scope allowing such improvements as building new rooms, re-roofing, repairing rooms and fixtures, landscaping, putting in a driveway or installation of any electrical, gas, cabinet or other equipment including awnings which become a permanent fixture of the house.

ANAHEIM, Sept. 28.—According to estimates by Principal J. C. Claves the Anaheim high school campus will be ready next week for work to start on the construction of the new unit authorized last summer by vote of the citizens. The building will extend across the entire Center street frontage and will cost approximately $75,000.

Claves said yesterday that plans for the new building are still in the office of the architect T. C. Kistner, Los Angeles and are almost ready for forwarding to the state architect at Sacramento for approval. Following approval by state authorities they will be returned to the local board for its approval.

As soon as the local group approves the plans bids for the work will be called for immediately and work started within a short time. Claves said that there is a possibility that the plans will be back from Sacramento early in October. Moving of the two buildings comprising the west wing of the old high school plant has been completed with the work done by two crews of SERRA workers. The buildings were moved west and north from their old location and have been painted. The two buildings of the east wing also have been moved to the site of the old auditorium and are receiving their final coat of plaster.

At present workmen are engaged in demolition of the old addition building which will be replaced in the new unit to be constructed. It is expected, according to Claves that the demolition work will be completed and all debris cleared away from the campus early next week.

HOF BRAU CAFE MENAGED BY FIRE

The Hof Brau cafe and beer emporium on West Fourth street near Ross was menaced by fire at 6:52 last evening, when some decorative palm leaves fastened to one of the building supports caught fire. An alarm was turned in but employees of the establishment had extinguished the blaze by the time the fire truck arrived. No damage was reported.

The blaze was caused, it was said, when a patron struck a match, and the head of the match, which had become ignited, flew into the palm leaves fastened to a building support near the door. A grass fire on some vacant lot in the 800 block on South Van Ness street was extinguished without damage at 11 o'clock this morning, as was a fence fire at the home of F. P. Jaynes at 315 East Washington avenue at 9:50 a. m. today. The fence was reported to have become ignited from an incinerator in the back yard of the Jaynes home.

Over 40 miles of roads have been oiled and laid with rock and the 300 miles of roads in the district have been kept in good condition during his term of office, he stated.

Adult Education Department Holds First Open House

Interest in adult education work was manifest last night when more than 300 persons assembled at the high school gymnasium in the first of the adult education department's open houses for the current school year.

After outlining the present program of classes, Mrs. Golden Weston, director of adult education, introduced the evening high school faculty. The questions asked the faculty members concerning the courses of study offered showed evidence of considerable interest in the ensuing program, it is reported.

A program was furnished by the Orange county SERRA musical organization. Vocal solos were offered by Charles K. Eaton and Mrs. Vernon Clayton and a piano solo by Mrs. Zoe Sumner. The evening was concluded with dancing to music furnished by the SERRA dance orchestra.

Miss Jean Berger, president of the evening high school student body, was in charge of arrangements and refreshments.

CHRYSLER MAKES U. S. ECONOMY RUN

The same Airflow Chrysler Imperial coupe that set 72 new closed stock car speed records at Bonneville, Utah, on August 12 and 13, has completed an economy run from Los Angeles to New York with an average of 18.1 miles to the gallon of gasoline. The car was driven by Harry Hartz on its transcontinental trip, with Elbert "Babe" Stapp as alternate. Lee Oldfield, representing the A. A. A. contest board, accompanied the car as observer. The figure for gasoline mileage is the one announced by Oldfield in his official capacity.

The Airflow Chrysler left Los Angeles at 2:15 p. m. on Wednesday, August 22, and arrived at the terminus of its trip at 10 o'clock the following Monday morning. The trip, covering 3075 miles, was made at an average speed of approximately 42 miles an hour actual running time. No attempt was made for high speed, as the trip was intended to approximate the kind of driving an owner would do on a cross-country run. The gasoline record of 18.1 miles per gallon is regarded as a remarkable one for a car of this size with an engine developing 130 horsepower and piston displacement of 223.5 cubic inches. The economy of fuel was another striking proof of the value of the

So Women don't know their own Minds?

She's not surprised if sweet peas appear in the tomato patch

LET'S end that ridiculous accusation once and for all. No doubt some man started it. For example, Dorothy Shaw may not know her own mind about her garden.

That's natural. It's because in her garden she likes adventure. She's not surprised if sweet peas appear in the tomato patch.

The Shaws have always ordered Hills Bros. without ever changing

But she's through with adventure when it comes to coffee. She knows her own mind there! And she knows that Hills Bros. Coffee gives her and her husband uniform flavor delight. Hills Bros.' exclusive Controlled Roasting Process assures uniform perfection of flavor, day after day.

Year after year. And that's why the Shaws have always ordered Hills Bros. Coffee without ever changing—even if the Shaw garden changes every year!

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

-- News Behind the News --

BY PAUL MALLON
(Copyright, 1934, by Paul Mallon)
JUDICIAL INFLUENCE
WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—The story behind General Johnson's tricky hint of NRA dealings with sparring counsel among lawmakers may remain forever a secret between the general and the justice. Johnson probably never will choose to amplify his innuendo. Mr. Brandeis naturally cannot dignify the incident by even letting his friends unofficially reply in detail. There is, however, one place where you can get some salient facts. A certain presidential adviser, not connected with Johnson or Brandeis, has known the essential details of the meetings for some time. His account bears its own air of authenticity and is partially confirmable in a responsible NRA quarter. This account indicates that if Mr. Brandeis has been in any way an invisible guiding inspiration to the New Deal, he was certainly no inspiration to General Johnson, for the truth seems to be that, while the general sought the advice of the justice, he failed to follow it in any particular. If he had, he might not now be in the soup. . . .

MEETINGS

A friend of the elder Senator Bob La Follette first took General Johnson to the Brandeis home here in May of last year. The original NRA legislation was being drafted then and the general wanted the advice of the justice as an eminent citizen.

Mr. Brandeis told Johnson that the NRA was wrong in principle, that the Black 30-hour week bill and a stronger labor law would afford a much better approach to the problem in his private opinion. The justice is supposed to have asserted also that he did not, as a citizen, approve of letting business groups form trade associations, which, in effect, suspended the anti-trust laws. That was all.

Some time during the summer of last year, Johnson telephoned Brandeis at the Brandeis summer home, Chatham, Mass., to announce he had settled the garment workers' strike. NRAs say they assumed Johnson was proud of that accomplishment and wanted to tell Mr. Brandeis about, as Mr. Brandeis was once a union attorney. . . .

DUD

Their next meeting was in Washington several months later, when Johnson, apparently disturbed by criticism, sought out Brandeis for advice. The jurist refused to be drawn in, said that, as Johnson had refused his earlier counsel, he could only say: "I told you so."

Six months afterward, Johnson again went to Mr. Brandeis for advice (it was in May of this year) and again asked for Brandeis' views. At that time, the general was very much on the run. The justice told him that the only thing for him to do was to resign. As he had let things get out of hand; that business had ridden rough-shod over the administration as a result of Johnson's policies. Since then, Johnson has seen Justice Brandeis no more, but the general has finally made the decision to resign.

In view of this situation, it is quite possible the incident will be marked closed and relegated to that limbo of duds which have fallen in the midst of Washington gossip circles with terrific excitement and have failed to explode.

The possibility that anyone will raise any legal question against Mr. Brandeis sitting on the bench can be considered as very remote. . . .

SUB LEASING

President Roosevelt certainly overlooked a bet by not subletting the White House this summer. He probably could have balanced the budget, if he had. A check-up shows he has been out of Washington about three months since the first of the year; that he has been here forty-five days since June 1 and sixteen days since July 1.

His trips this year included: March 28 to April 14, in Florida fishing; May 21 to June 4, Gettysburg speech and Hyde Park visit; June 21, at Yale for degree; July

1 to Aug. 16, Hawaiian cruise; Aug. 16 to Sept. 26, at Hyde Park. But the end is not yet. The president plans to go to Warm Springs about Thanksgiving for a few weeks. . . .

BACKING

There are stories going around that the American Liberty League has received $25,000 in private donations by mail, mostly in dollar contributions. The amount is exaggerated, but league sources say privately they are getting 2000 letters a day, and have accumulated considerable cash. However, that is one thing they do not have to worry about. . . .

NOTES

It will be announced shortly that the Germans are sending their big new dirigible (larger than the Meacon) to the United States next summer on a commercial flight. . . .

The British were really deeply (and not just diplomatically) offended by the way the name of the king was dragged before the senate munitions committee, merely on the absurd alibi of an American munitions salesman as to why he could not do any business. The British regard their king as a symbol of the empire. In much the same spirit as we regard our flag, they do not understand that American salesmen sometimes concoct weird excuses for their bosses. . . .

General Johnson is supposed to have been sounding out certain industrial leaders privately on new methods of establishing contact directly with Mr. Roosevelt. Apparently he has been acting for the president in an effort to establish better relations with businessmen. The only trouble is that the business men do not know whether the general represents Mr. Roosevelt any more. . . .

NEW YORK
By James McMullin

RECEPTIVE

Reports that Bernard Baruch would turn up as pinch-hitter-in-chief for the revised NRA lineup were woven of more substantial cloth than most Baruch rumors. Wall Street and big business in general would welcome Baruch's assignment to an important role. They may not agree with all his ideas but he talks their language and shares their philosophy. He favors a stabilized currency, economy leading to a balanced federal budget and government cooperation with business minus the element of "interference." Such a program is sweet music to conservative ears. No wonder you hear it said that his appointment would be the most "constructively bullish gesture" the President could make. . . .

Insiders remark that Mr. Baruch wouldn't object at all to playing Richelieu. It's understood that he is "receptive" to the proposition of serving the administration in an advisory capacity—provided the New Deal is amended to fit his ideas. This impression is so widespread in financial circles that his appointment to any public office would be hailed as a reassuring and positive turn to the right. . . .

UNIONS

Refusal of many cotton mills to take back strike ringleaders is proof to New York watchers that the "settlement" does not settle fundamental differences. New strikes in the South are in the offing. . . .

Observers here agree that the textile situation will depend upon the acceptability of the new Textile Labor Board and the promptness of its action. It will be very difficult for the President to name a board acceptable to both sides—and after the board has been named it will be still more difficult for it to blaze out a settlement satisfactory to both contentions. . . .

The central quarrel is over unionization and the closed shop. It is the forces in the background that have to be brought into line. . . .

OPEN

The durable industries have about completed plans to set up a permanent committee to represent them in Washington. It will aid the fight on the government central bank and strenuously advocate relaxation of the Securities Act and of business restrictions in general. An organized privately remarks: "The veterans, the farmers and labor have done pretty well for themselves with their lobbies. We figure it's about time we cut ourselves a piece of the same pie." . . .

RFC

The RFC's charter expires at the end of January, 1935. Opponents of the central bank idea will lay down a surprisingly powerful barrage to defeat its renewal—not that they have anything special against the RFC but because it will be the first Congressional test on government banking. They figure it will give them a big edge for the decisive battle if they can kill off an existing federal credit agency. . . .

Their chief argument—as expressed through friendly Congressmen—will be that the emergency is over so let's get back to normal. Privately they're dubious of success but a close vote would satisfy them. They hope it that many Congressmen will vote to continue the RFC who would balk at a central bank. . . .

HARMONY

The renomination of Lieutenant-Governor Bray by the New York Democrats indicates that Jim Farley has had to pay a price for party harmony. Bray has a Tammany backup and decidedly does not belong to the Roosevelt wing. It's understood that Governor Lehman would have preferred another running mate. . . .

But chucking him overboard would have reopened a fresh-healed wound and party strategists decided it was too big a risk. Farley's policy of eliminating factional fights did good work here. . . .

SIDELIGHTS

Financial circles haven't given up hope of a two-cent subway tax as an answer to relief problems (and a painless method of putting over a higher fare). . . .

The New York State Chamber of Commerce is fronting for the banks in the argument. . . . Brokers were relieved to learn that the Stock Exchange's financial report shows big reserves. . . . They had been afraid of a heart-breaking assessment. . . . Al Smith's plea for party regularity doesn't cease Fusionist McGoldrick's supporters. . . . They can't see Al working his head off to elect Frank Taylor. Copyright, 1934, McClure News'ry Syn.

LEAVE FOR OAKLAND

BREA, Sept. 28.—Miss Margaret Culp and Miss Ruth Livingston left Brea Thursday to motor to Oakland, where they will visit over the week end with Miss Culp's sister, Mrs. Albert Gelsendorfer. While away they will attend a game at Berkeley from which university Miss Livingston graduated in June of this year. . . .

MAE WEST FILM AT WEST COAST TODAY

The colorful atmosphere of the "Gay Nineties" has been re-created in Mae West's latest starring vehicle, "Belles of the Nineties," which opens at the West Coast theater today for an engagement of a week. . . .

In order to accommodate out of town shoppers and others, Manager Lester J. Fountain has arranged to present a special matinee at noon tomorrow, showing the entire bill. She takes the part of a St. Louis woman traveling to New Orleans, to become the belle of the city at its fastest, flashiest period. She sings five new songs in the picture. Duke Ellington and his famous band and a chorus of 90 colored singers lend color and music to the film. . . .

Selected short subject include a Todd-Kelly comedy, "I'll Be Suing You," a Terrytoon cartoon, "Jail Birds," and World News events. . . .

TWO FEATURES AT BROADWAY TODAY

A double feature program opens at the Broadway theater today. The first picture is "The Defense Rests," starring Jack Holt in a story which is a powerful indictment of the ruthless, sensational "mouthpiece" popularized by Bill Patton and Earl Rogers. He takes the part of a brilliant, notorious criminal lawyer who will defend anyone—at a price. Jean Arthur, Shirley Grey, Nat Pendleton, Arthur Kohl, Raymond Welburn and Sarah Padden have important roles. . . .

The second feature is "Gift of Gab," which depicts the rise of an auctioneer to the position of the nation's most popular announcer and reporter. The tuneful and colorful picture boasts 30 radio, stage and screen celebrities. A satirical murder play is presented as a "play within a play." . . .

A Paramount pictorial and Register World News events completes the program. . . .

ARRANGE OXFORD

The afternoon meeting will be at 3 o'clock and that in the evening at 7 o'clock. The meetings are open to the general public. . . .

IRWIN GETS POST WITH SOUTHLAND'S D.O.P. ORGANIZATION

Howard Irwin, of Fullerton, chairman of the Republican county central committee of Orange county, was re-elected secretary of the Southern California Republican committee at the recent meeting of that body in the Los Angeles Athletic club, attended by Governor Frank F. Merriam and other party leaders.

The committee includes heads of the Republican central committee of ten southern counties, Ingall W. Bull, chairman of the Los Angeles committee being re-elected chairman of the southern committee.

Governor Merriam, his private secretary, Justus F. Craemer, of Orange; Ralph H. Clock, Southern California campaign manager for Merriam; and Harry Hopkins, chairman of the state highway commission, attended the meeting.

PLAN RALLY PROGRAM
WINTERSBURG, Sept. 28.—Rehearsals for the annual Rally day program of the Wintersburg Methodist Sunday school for Sunday, October 7, started this week. "The Spirit of Rally Day" will be the theme of the program presented.

Mrs. Sherman Buck and Mrs. Harry Letson, teachers in the junior Sunday school department, are in charge of the program, which will be given in connection with the promotion of pupils from the primary and beginners classes. Pupils from all departments of the Sunday school are included in the program which will be held in the morning.

NOTED MUSICIAN TO GIVE CONCERT AT S. A. CHURCH

Robert Harkness, said to be one of the world's outstanding sacred musicians and recognized authority on gospel song and hymnology, is scheduled to appear in a sacred music recital at the United Presbyterian church, Santa Ana, next Sunday evening at 7:30.

Harkness is editor of The Sacred Musician and has made six complete round-the-world tours in the work of sacred song.

A native of Australia, he has been reared in an atmosphere of sacred music and as a mere boy he gave recitals and later traveled widely in connection with the campaigns of Dr. R. A. Torrey, Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman and C. M. Alexander.

Commentators describe him as having set the evangelistic playing standard. He is the composer of over 2000 gospel hymns and is the author of a unique home study course in sacred piano accompaniment; in each recital, it is said, he demonstrates the great possibilities of this art with his own improvisations. The old favorite themes are garbed with the most attractive variations, under his touch, say those who have heard him.

A special feature of his recitals is the instantaneous composition of music for any text of scripture offered by anyone in the audience.

NEW DEPARTMENT AT HABER DRESS SHOP

A new cosmetic department has been opened in the Haber dress shop where a trained cosmetic advisor is in charge to show each patron the most effective and suitable cosmetic ensemble for her own use, it was announced today.

Preparations used are compounded especially for the patron as she waits and her prescriptions are then kept on file. The cost is even less than the usual amount expended, it was stated.

"Make-up," a statement issued in connection with the new venture said, "should so cleverly enhance each feature that the make-up itself becomes an illusion and the effect one of natural beauty. No two faces are exactly alike and no two women require the same cosmetic treatment."

"With this idea in mind, Luther's Prescription Cosmetics have been perfected and it is now possible to have face powder, rouge, creams and skin correctives compounded to suit individual requirements of the user."

Cosmetic departments like the new one at Haber's are established in all of the most representative eastern cities and Santa Ana women are now offered the same careful service they would receive on Fifth avenue, it was stated.

TIRE TREAD BIG SAFETY FACTOR

The old maxim that "brakes will stop your wheels but the tires must stop your car" is becoming increasingly important, in the belief of J. E. McHenry, local dealer for the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.

"The ability to stop in time in event of emergency is of paramount importance," McHenry asserted. "Every motorist should, whether he cares for his own safety or not, have some regard for the safety of others—and old worn thin, smooth tires are exceptionally dangerous."

"Particularly at this time of year, with streets thronged with children going to and from school, the automobile driver should be certain that he can stop in time if a child suddenly darts out in front of his car. Smooth tires will skid and will not stop the speeding automobile—and often an accident ending in death or injury and a life of remorse for the driver is the result."

USE OF BEACH STRIP SOUGHT BY LOT OWNERS

LAGUNA BEACH, Sept. 28.—A request that the Whiting company, of Los Angeles, subdividers and real estate operators, set aside and dedicate for the use of off shore home owners on residence tract 849 at Three Arches, a strip of beach sand, measuring about 50 feet in depth and 300 feet in length, will be presented to the realty concern by the home owners through a special committee, it was learned today.

Action looking toward such representations was taken at a meeting of the home owners on the tract Wednesday night, held at the residence of Alexander Nelter, at which Jack Caley was named chairman of the committee.

In this connection it was brought out that property owners of lots bordering the beach at the mean high tide mark claim ownership of the beach frontage, a circumstance which may prevent off shore residence owners from using the beach unless given permission. The off shore home owners do not want to be in the position of trespassing on private property and therefore want a section of the beach set aside for them, it was stated. It was stated that at the present time the realty concern has sufficient unsold beach frontage to meet the request of the off shore home owners.

DON WILKIE TO TELL ANOTHER CRIME STORY

In another true story dealing with crime, crime detection and, in this instance, crime prevention, Captain Don Wilkie, veteran law enforcement officer and world known criminologist, will broadcast from KREG tonight at 7:30 o'clock the account of a "Bad Boy Who Turned Good." The story, one of the most interesting of Captain Wilkie's famous "In The Crimelight" series, deals with a youth who had turned to crime, but who, through the humane application of law enforcement through crime prevention, was reformed and developed into a respected citizen.

Tonight's unusual story is one of Captain Wilkie's choice accounts because he played a major role in the tactful application of 30 years of law enforcement experience to check the young man's downfall. Crime detection, Captain Wilkie will explain, is only a part of an experienced law enforcement officer's duty. In tonight's radio story, the former United States Secret Service man will show how kindness and humane treatment snatched one particular youth from the brink of a life of crime.

Beginning next week, by popular demand, Captain Wilkie will increase his broadcasting schedule on station KREG to include three 15-minute periods weekly, it was announced today. He will be heard, beginning on October 1, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings at 7:30 o'clock.

PRISON FACTS PRESENTED AT FORUM SESSION

FULLERTON, Sept. 28.—The general activity of the inmates at San Quentin prison was discussed last night when Charles Ruby, director of the Fullerton Forum, talked briefly to 160 attendants.

Ruby told of visiting the jail in Ohio from which Dillinger escaped. The jailers told him, he said, that the wooden gun story was "hatched" and that so far as they knew, he did not have an imitation gun. Dillinger, Ruby was told, got the "drop" on them while their backs were turned.

At San Quentin, prisoners to the number of 4909 are at present incarcerated, Ruby said. Of this number, one third are under 30 years of age; 3702 were born in United States; 263 are illiterates, 216 college bred; 2892 are grammar school graduates, and 1171 are high school graduates; 539 take advantage of the day school of the night school, and 800 take extension work, either correspondence courses or extension work through the University of California, he related.

"The law teacher described the dining room, where more than 4000 are seated at a time; the jute mills, where all are supposed to work, but where 'Beesemeyer and Asa Keyes have never served time'; the baseball teams, and many other phases of the institution.

Ruby announced he hoped to have Don Wilkie, candidate for sheriff of Orange county, talk at the forum next Thursday, and on the following Thursday, representatives of the National Housing board will be invited to speak. The forum is open to the public. It is part of the course Ruby outlines for his law students.

Miller, Mrs. Raymond Little, Mrs. J. M. Bush, Mrs. A. C. Kryder, Mrs. W. C. Neal, Mrs. Eunice White, Mrs. A. S. Redfern and the hostesses and those on the program.

Mrs. S. W. Douglas, program chairman, presented the new books, backed in brown, with gold lettering. The program is to be devoted to "Romantic California," and throughout the book are sketches of early California scenes.

Mrs. Terry Stephenson of Santa Ana, brought the message of the evening, speaking on "California Land Grants." She made graphic comparisons of early days and the California of today.

Mrs. Archibald Edwards, vice president of the county federation, sang "California, I Love You." The music was composed by Vladimir Lenski, of Costa Mesa, with words by Dorothy Hall Pitman, of Santa Ana. She accompanied herself.

Ruby announced he hoped to have Don Wilkie, candidate for sheriff of Orange county, talk at the forum next Thursday, and on the following Thursday, representatives of the National Housing board will be invited to speak. The forum is open to the public. It is part of the course Ruby outlines for his law students.

"$800<sup>00</sup> is a lot of money to us!"

"It didn't take many slip-ups in lubrication to ruin the resale value of my old car. So, before I entrusted this car's lubrication to anyone, I looked around! . . . Shell's 'forget-proof method' is by far the safest bet I found."

AND LADIES—NO GREASE SPOTS!!

Here are SEVEN SHELL RULES ON LUBRICATION CLEANLINESS from Service Station Instruction Manual:

1. Safeguard upholstery against grease spots with Shell seat covers.
2. Use covers on steering wheel, gear shift lever, and fenders.
3. Wipe all surface oil from locks and hinges.
4. Vacuum inside of car.
5. Polish the chromium.
6. Dust the body.
7. Clean all windows and headlights.

IT STANDS to reason no person can remember fifty or more lubrication points for all the models of even one make of car. Not to mention all the different makes.

You don't risk "overlooked points" when you go to Shell stations. They have a Shell Check-Chart lubrication procedure for every car of recent years—worked out jointly by Shell engineers and the car manufacturer. The Check-Chart covering your particular model is strictly followed. Nothing can be missed.

And remember, today's cars require from eight to eleven special lubricants, and Shell stations are stocked with every needed type. You don't get ordinary cup grease where a water-proof lubricant should go. Or mixed lubricants that "fight."

What's more, where you see a Shell lubrication insignia, there's a man carefully trained in his work by Shell lubrication engineers.

Why not look into this safer, more complete service today?

PLAY FOOTBALL AT ST. MARY'S AND SEE THE WORLD!

Bob McAndrews, assistant manager of Saint Mary's college, informs me that the institution has committed the heresy of heresies this season in not engaging a plucky public relations counsel.

"The slogan for 1934 at Saint Mary's is 'Back to Normalcy,'" says McAndrews. "Having lost exactly 25 of last fall's flock, eight of them first string men, we naturally cannot prophesy a world-beating team.

"This we did a year ago, and the result was that the heads of some of the 'giant killers' grew almost as large as their newspaper weights, with four defeats as one of the effects. So pre-season hallelujah has been soft-pedaled this fall.

But you can't keep a good Californian down—not for any length of time, at least—and it shortly is revealed that Saint Mary's hasn't much.

"However, even though we're silent on championship pretenses, our silence is more that of the bashful good man modestly disclaiming. 'Oh, I'm not so much,'" goes on McAndrews. "Privately we feel that this year's aggregation of potentially great youngsters can be brought to the heights of our sophomore squad of 1931, which defeated Southern California and California in a row.

"We do boast a few things worthy of mention. One of them is the speediest set of halfbacks in America—Al Nichelini, the fastest big man, and Ed Hallman, the most rapidly moving little fellow.

"Hallman ran the 100-yard dash in 9.7 and Nichelini in 9.9 in the Fresno Relays last spring."

"Poor Saint Mary's!"

SALVAGING THE WRECKAGE

"One of the flooziest forward pass combinations in football will be that of Harry the Horse' Mattie at right halfback and Eddie Erdelatz at end," continues McAndrews. "New York fans who saw these two for a few minutes last season need no further reminder. Chinto Controtto, sophomore fullback, is said to be the closest approach yet to the famed Dark Angel Brovelli.

"Malcolm Fiese, a ranking quarterback who has been out of the spotlight for two campaigns due to a bad knee, is expected to do plenty of tricks in the realm of long distance punting.

"Two of the line stalwarts who 'held the bridge' when Fordham was on the one-inch line last fall (Californians are good at measuring, too), will be on the structure when the Galloping Gaels again face Fordham on Oct. 20. They are the barrel-built Nebb Elduyan at guard and towering John Yezeriski at tackle.

"Coach Slip Madigan's most perplexing problem is cutting the squad of 62 fine players to a working group of a little more than half that size.

"Madigan has abolished secret practice."

TIME TABLES AND TRIG

Photographers slipped in and snapped the young savages while those pressing the de-emphasis movement were not looking, and a delayed and abbreviated press notice tells us of the Saint Mary's team's fourth annual pilgrimage to the Atlantic seaboard.

"Nearly 10,000 miles will be traveled," it reads.

"Our aim is to give our boys and their friends, who accompany us, an educational tour, as well as a geographic, artistic, and historic conception of our continent," declares Coach Madigan.

"Highlights of this year's trip, which will take the team through the southern states going east and through Canada and the northwest in returning, include a day at the World's Fair in Chicago and in Washington, five days in New York, visits in Montreal and Quebec, a motor trip through the Canadian Rockies with an overnight stop at Lake Louise, and visits in Vancouver, Seattle and Portland.

"In the last few years, Saint Mary's teams have visited the Grand Canyon, Carlsbad Caverns, Boulder Dam, the World's Fair, Notre Dame, Washington, and Niagara Falls. The forthcoming one will be the third eastern jaunt for three members of the squad, while a score or more are to make it for the second time."

Join Saint Mary's and see the world—and you don't need a press agent.

CARDS, GIANTS GET JITTERS

Spine-Tingling Finish In National Helps Detroit BUT DEANS CAN BEAT TIGERS

By HENRY McLEMORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Every swag, and Detroit would come a lot closer to winning the Giants than they would the Cards. The New Yorks don't figure to be tough in the world series. Of course, you never can tell, and they might turn out to be balls of fire, but the odds are against it. For this reason: The Giants are in a slump. A month ago they thought they had the pennant sewed up, then they went into a tail-skid and are having a devil of a time coming out of it. This isn't good for the pennant.

If the Cards won the pennant they would move into the series believing themselves the "team of destiny." And perfectly logically, too, for a month ago they seemed hopelessly out of it, only to come with a rush that swept all before them.

Besides, the Cards have two of the greatest pitchers in baseball. The Giants won the world's title last year with one—Hubbell. With two a team can hardly miss. The two pitchers I speak of are, of course, the Dean brothers. They're daffy, yes; cun-razy, yes; tipsy canipsy, yes; yeh, yes; yes; but, my dear beloved brethren, they can bowl that cricket ball.

Put them in there against the Detroiters and they're liable to hold the Tigers in the hollow of their hands.

Miss Pomeroy And Mrs. Shields Tie

both one up, Miss Lu Pomeroy and Mrs. Hugh Shields tied for first in women's match play at the Santa Ana Country club yesterday. Mrs. R. W. Weston, third, was even to par. Mrs. E. H. Guthrie won in Class B. She was one down. Mrs. R. G. Cartwright was second.

DONS, VIKINGS MEET AT BOWL

LONG BEACH IN
BID FOR FIRST
WIN OVER S. A.

Striving to protect their most unique record, that of never having allowed Long Beach to score on them in football, Bill Cook's Santa Ana Dons enter the Western division Vikings inside the Municipal Bowl at 8 o'clock tonight.

The Vikings bring here what is perhaps their most potent squad in history, along with ex-Trojan Rocky Kemp, a new coach who has installed a modified Jones system which he used in a successful reign at Woodrow Wilson High.

He has executed the Rockne system as taught by Oak Smith, who has replaced Kemp at Wilson.

Although both coaches plan to give their reserves plenty of action, they will insert their first stringers at the start. The Viking roster is studded with lettermen and former prep stars who threaten not only to score on the Dons, but to defeat them. Santa Ana is just as experienced, and will have the advantage of already having played one game.

Five Veterans in Line

Paul Perinich, who joined the Dons Tuesday, will team with Ben Slavits at end for Santa Ana, with the sturdy Miles Norton and Harold Lundblade at tackle, Sam Tucker and Loren Lukens at guard, Charles Roemer at center. All except Lundblade and Roemer are lettermen.

It is planned to hold Major Anderson, the speedy freshman who displayed fine possibilities against Compton, in reserve at quarterback. He will break into the lineup before the first half ends.

Alfred Matthews probably will be the first to operate at safety. Wilburn Anderson, the versatile sophomore and chief threat of the backfield, will start at full. Walt Hickman and Bob Phipps or Bob Mitchell will receive the nod at the halves.

"Capt. 'Scrubby' Elliott and Kenny Woodruff will share the quarterback duties for Long Beach. Morgan Hayes, burly veteran, and Frank Penelas, up from San Diego, will open at fullback.

Alan Anderson and Don Dyer, two all-rounders, will be at half, followed by Bob Bostrom, former Santa Diegoan, and John Carroll, a Nebraska transfer.

Viking Roster Well Stocked

Art Tindall, 163, and Walt Middleton, 170, are due for the end assignments; with Bill Cresswell, 231, and Bill Parr, 190, at tackle; George Kayama, 145, and Andy Wilson, 160, at guard; and Dick Jordan, 197, at center. They are the shining lights of a roster of 50 whom Long Beach will send.

The Vikings selected the 50 from a group of 80.

The first eleven Santa Ana inserts tonight is believed to be more powerful than the championship team of last season. Chances for another conference title depend largely upon the development of Don reserves, who are plentiful for every position except tackle.

Ernie Danielson, Dick Moore and Ralph Comstock are pressing the varsity backfield. Walt Gunther and Frank Kroemer, lettermen, are considered regulars just the same as Perinich and Slavits at end, and Cook has another good combination of wingmen, Hal Ely and Harold Pottorf. Nelson Rogers is the outstanding understudy to Lundblade at tackle. The brilliant Norton is capable of going four quarters at right tackle. Ray Nowotny, 210-pound letterman, is pressing Lukens for a regular post at guard. Bruce Martin, Harold Young, Dave Webb and Gil Yorba will substitute for Roemer at center in the approximate order named.

The Dons will wear their new red and white jerseys again tonight, but will change to their new blue and white sets for their game with the U. S. C. Freshmen at the Coliseum a week from tomorrow.

SOX DENY SIMMONS DEAL WITH BOSTON

CHICAGO, Sept. 28.—Officials of the Chicago White Sox deny they contemplate a trade with the Red Sox involving Al Simmons. A report has it that the famous outfielder will go to Boston in exchange for Catcher Rick Ferrell, Southpaw Fred Ostermueller and Outfielder "Dusty" Cooke.

"Simmons will play with the White Sox in 1935," says Manager Jimmy Dykes.

"No negotiations have been carried on with the Boston club," asserts Vice-President Harry Grabner.

WILLOWICK EXTENDS QUALIFYING ROUNDS

Willowick Golf club officials announced today that qualifying would be extended another week for their annual men's fall handicap tournament, which was supposed to begin next week. The new deadline is Sunday night, October 7.

Results of Thursday's nine-hole medal play: Mrs. Erma Bradley, 33, first; Mrs. Myrtle Chapman, 37, second.

Morning On Hillock For H. B. Oilers

Howard Morning, dean of night ball pitchers and for many years one of the most popular players in the game, will hurl for Huntington Beach when the Oilers oppose Riverside in the second of their seven-game championship series at Huntington Beach tonight.

The veteran southpaw appeared in two series with Long Beach when the sport was in its comparative infancy, his last appearance with a pennant-winner being in '29 when Long Beach nosed out Santa Ana and Riverside in a three-cornered playoff.

Manager Joe Rodgers said Morning's assignment was definite, and added that Charley Zaby would start in left field. Otherwise, the Huntington Beach lineup will be the same as when the Oilers nosed out the Rubes, 1-0, in the series opener.

Jerry Parsons will be on the hillock for Riverside. Parsons neld Huntington Beach to six hits Tuesday.

The clubs have decided to play every Tuesday and Friday rather than attempt to crowd three games into a single week.

DEDICATE NEW FOOTBALL FIELD AT FULLERTON

FULLERTON, Sept. 28.—Coach Art Nunn unveils his 1934 Fullerton junior college Yellowjackets under the arcs of the new stadium at 8 o'clock tonight with the Pasadena Bulldogs offering the opposition.

Since Fullerton and Santa Ana junior colleges teamed up with the Eastern division, Pasadena and Fullerton have continued their spirited rivalry. It was not until last season that a Nunn-coached eleven turned back Pasadena. In 1928 when Nunn took the helm, his team held Pasadena to a deadlock, 6 to 6, and 12 to 0 games the following seasons. They held their own again in 1932 with a 6 to 6 score.

Fullerton will average 173 pounds, with a 179-pound line and a 167-pound backfield. If Fullerton's offensive backs punch, the Yellowjackets will rely on their southpaw kicker, Burt Kidd, 165-pound halfback, who has been punting consistently from 50 to 70 yards in practice. It is not believed that this will be the policy tonight when Nunn will present three quarterbacks in Leo Burns, Louis Blose and Orville Burns, who lead Fullerton Hi to a Football League championship in 1929 and who is back to show up his younger brother.

Gene Moss, 168, and Kenney Reynolds, 170, start at ends; Robert Shaw, 135, and Victor Sutherland, 202 tackles; Grey Simpson 184, and Winfred Pepper, 175, guards, and Don Maxson center comprise the remainder of the line.

The Fullerton backfield will include Louis Blose, 156, quarter; Al Ogden, 184, and Kidd, halfbacks, and Louise Slayton 165, fullback.

With an electric light of 1500 watts, strung high over the field, the new Fullerton stadium is prepared for night football and other sports. The lights have been provided through a student body fund at a cost of about $1500. The plant, a CWA project, will seat 6000 persons.

EXPECT PACIFIC TO GIVE TROJANS TEST

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28.—Facing a much lighter team but one drilled by an old master at the game of football, the Trojans of Southern California engage in their final practice game of the season tomorrow when they take on the College of the Pacific eleven coached by the "grand old man of the gridiron," Amos Alonzo Stagg.

Southern California is doped to win, but not without a struggle, as Stagg can always be counted on for a few tricks both in his own offense and in crossing up the attack of the opposition. His team barely lost to St. Mary's last year and the presence of a veteran line and a set of fast backs insure plenty of competition for Coach Howard Jones' Trojans.

Southern California will probably be minus the services of Capt. Julie Bescoe, left end, and Ken Carpenter, center, who are out with charley horses, and Leavitt Thurlow and King Hall of the reserves will get chances at these positions in the first string. The Trojan squad is a bit battered by a series of hard scrimmages Jones has staged this week, but most of them will be ready.

ORANGE WINS FROM WHITTIER HI, 6-0

Orange high school's football squad, which dropped a 12-7 decision to Santa Ana last week, drove 40 yards in the first quarter for a touchdown that beat Whittier, 6-0, in a non-league game at Whittier yesterday. Quarterback Oliver McCarter went over from the 2-yard line.

50,000 TO SEE
INDIAN-BRONCO
GRID FEATURE

Football radio broadcasts scheduled Saturday: U. S. C. Pacific, by KFWB and KMTR, 2:30 p. m.; Stanford-Santa Clara by KHJ, 2 p. m.; Oregon-U. C. L. A. by KFI at 2 p. m.

(By United Press)

With the season's first "big game" and the opening Pacific Coast conference clashes on the program, football fans get a great big bite of their favorite fall sport on the Pacific Coast this week-end.

The program begins this afternoon, with University of San Francisco playing Oregon State college at Corvallis, pitting a team that lost six games by one touchdown in 1933 against the eleven whose 1933 highlights was a scoreless tie with U. S. C.

Santa Clara Dangerous

But the main action comes Saturday, with Santa Clara vs. Stanford as the chief dish. Santa Clara has a reputation of being early season "giant killers."

Stanford has what critics consider the best team on the coast, if not in the nation. Sports writers favor Stanford despite the underdog's whirlwind attack. Some 50,000 are expected to jam the Stanford stadium for the season's first big attraction. Stanford won last year, 7-0.

Three conference games occupy attention. U. C. L. A., with its heaviest team of Bill Spaulding's regime, plays University of Oregon at Portland; Idaho tackles University of Washington and its great backfield at Seattle; and Montana tests "Babe" Hollingberry's new Washington State array at Pullman.

California and U. S. C., other members with Stanford of the coast's "Big Three," are playing minor opponents.

Bears in Twin Bill

The Californians open their campaign with a doubleheader, playing the California Aggies and University of Nevada at Berkeley. Although already handicapped by injuries and illness, the Bears should have little trouble romping to large scores.

Howard Jones, S. C. coach, has a splendid chance for revenge when S. C. meets College of Pacific. Years ago, when Jones was at Iowa, teams for the University of Chicago, coached by foxxy Amos Alonzo Stagg, defeated his Iowa. Times have changed. Jones has in S. C. one of the country's best eleven.

Stagg is at Pacific, a minor institution, and his little squad of 25 is regarded as a setup for the Trojans. And Jones is about to score his first victory over Stagg.

GOLDEN GLOVES
CHAMPION EASY
FISTIC VICTOR

When Art Hernandez awoke in his Anaheim abode today he must have thought the whole world had crashed down on his last night. Art had reasons for this suspicion. He got the shelling of his young life at the Orange County Athletic club last night.

Substituting in the main event for Art Breaux and Lupe Lemon, whose absence was not explained, Hernandez met an ex-Golden Gloves tournament champion from Chicago by the name of Joe Verney, an unknown as far as the clientele was concerned.

The change in lineup may have irritated some, but those who came to see remained to cheer. Ring-side oldsters agreed they never had witnessed such a thorough boxing lesson as the fast and clever Verney dealt out to the games and willing but hopelessly outclassed Hernandez.

Towel Saves Hernandez

Verney pulled his punches enough to put on a show, and Hernandez lasted until the fourth when his corner realized that even for the sake of the club it wasn't right to let Hernandez continue. The towel was a welcome sight to Art, who only could stand on the receptive end of Verney's punches and wonder about the score.

Don Benzer and Art Anderson, the latter a young Swede from Long Beach, delivered a fairly good semi-windup, Anderson losing the decision but giving Benzer his toughest fight in weeks. Anderson's long haymakers sounded like pistol shots when they connected, and he had Benzer plenty worried for two rounds, but the Anaheim bantam went to town in the last two heats. That makes 11 in a row for Benzer.

Joe Calderon and Pedro DeLeon started out so cautiously in the special event that Referee Freddie Gilmore threatened to give 'em the bum's rush. This homely bit of warning scared Calderon into action, and he soon had DeLeon's corner waving the white flag.

Oberlin Wins Again

Frank Oberlin scored an easy four-round decision over Eddie Martinez. Oberlin is about ready for better opposition.

SECTION TWO

Night School Classes Start Work Here Next Monday

MANY SPECIAL CLASSES TO BE OFFERED PUBLIC

With several new and interesting features added to its courses, Santa Ana evening high schools will open next Monday with classes mostly in the Willard and Lathrop Junior High schools, although certain classes will meet at the high school shop and gym, and one or two other places in the city.

Mrs. Golden Weston is again director of adult education and will also act as principal of the Willard evening high school, with W. W. Wieman as principal of the Lathrop evening high school. A large enrollment is in prospect, it is said.

Commercial law will be offered again this term by request, it is announced. Attorney Harry Westover will conduct the class on Mondays at Willard school, giving attention to legal matters of importance to individual affairs.

A forum on economic subjects will be conducted on Mondays at Lathrop under the leadership of Chester Page.

Travel Lectures

The travel lectures arranged by Mrs. Julia Hyde will be given this year at Lathrop on Tuesday evenings. The first one will be by Hans Bauer, covering a trip to Europe, via the Panama canal, on the Hamburg-American line.

The lecture program of the Willard evening high school will open Thursday, October 4, in the auditorium, where Dr. W. H. Burton, the University of Southern California visiting professor of education at Santa Ana, will speak on the subject, "What Children Know About the Community and Where They Get Their Information."

His source of material is personal interviews with some 25,000 children over a period of years, in which he tried to find what children think of the social, economic and political problems facing their parents. Some of these answers are said to be quite amusing, others quite shocking, but many show that children give serious thought to these affairs and can be taught to think constructively concerning them.

Dr. Burton, widely experienced, is said to be a dynamic speaker. He will discuss other phases of public schools on succeeding Thursdays throughout October.

The public is cordially invited to lectures, without charge.

INVITE PUBLIC TO MEETINGS OF SCOUT TROOPS

Santa Ana Boy Scouts will "go on display" during the ensuing week with meetings of 25 Scout troops open to the public in order to enable Santa Ana citizens to see Scouting in action. It was announced today by Harrison E. White, Scout executive for the county.

Open house will be observed in the various troop meetings as a forerunner to the city-wide "Crusade for Better Citizenship, Understanding and Support."

Leaders in the central division launched activities yesterday under the leadership of W. B. Heilts, general chairman. Others "crusading" with Heilts include C. H. Chapman, Harvey A. Gardner, Rex Kennedy, Hugh J. Lowe, C. J. McDowell, E. T. McFadden, Fred Newcomb Jr., C. L. Pritchard, Fred C. Rowland, M. B. Wellington, and W. H. Spurgeon. D. O. Rice, chairman of the branch house section, also is cooperating with the central committee and is forming an organization of men who will meet in the immediate future.

"With federal, state and local governments taking over most of the relief load," Heilts stated, "the time has arrived when we as citizens must give our whole-hearted support to those agencies which carry on programs of prevention of social and economic losses. Scouting, having definitely demonstrated its effectiveness in preparing boys for balanced citizenship, deserves and should have the best support of citizens of this county."

"We now have a total of 583 boys actively engaged in Scouting activities in the Santa Ana district, and while this is a splendid record, our effort in the present crusade is to make it possible for the program of character building and citizenship to reach a much larger number of our local boys. The program of Scouting is for our own local boys, managed by local men who give of their time to the movement. We can invest in this type of activity or we can take a chance on continued increase in the expenditure of tax monies through mounting delinquency among youth."

The crusade, to be culminated the week of October 14-20, will have a total of 400 men and women enrolled in its program, according to W. H. Spurgeon, who announced the third meeting of the campaign cabinet for Monday noon in James' cafe when reports as to progress to date will be made by each departmental and divisional chairman.

Fred G. Merker is general chairman of the campaign and colonels of divisions are C. J. McDowell and W. M. Wells.

PLANS FOR WAR ON LIQUOR, CRIME AND DELINQUENCY OUTLINED AT W.C.T.U. MEET

Stressing the principles of "Peace, Purity and Prohibition," as the slogan which has built the organization to its present status, Mrs. Eva Craven Wheeler, state president, yesterday addressed the Orange County convention of the W. C. T. U. at Newport Beach, on "Winners at the Ballot Box."

First stating what she termed "a few encouraging facts in our never-ceasing war on delinquency, liquor and crime," Mrs. Wheeler launched into a discussion of measures on the November ballot, talking of several "measures with a moral connotation." The measure on local option the speaker stressed above all, stating that it was impossible to over-emphasize its importance, and urging all members of the organization to actively aid in getting out a large affirmative vote on this question.

She explained a move in Los Angeles county designed to check moral delinquency among children, known as the "committee of seven," which works as a coordinating council in high school districts. Sixty per cent of all moral delinquency is directly attributable to alcoholic influence, Mrs. Wheeler stated, and the most item on the committee program is that of alcoholic education. The program is five fold, being carried on the church, the home, school, press and radio. Mrs. Wheeler urged the adoption of a similar program for Orange county.

Parent Problem

All educational bodies, civic organizations, church groups, the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and law enforcement agencies can be organized as a "battle unit" in the fight on delinquency, she stated, and the first blow must be struck at moral laxity among parents. The problem, it was said, is not one of youth, but one of parents.

Stating that in her belief Orange county was the driest of California counties, she asked, "but are you enforcing your liquor laws, especially in regard to sale to minors?" As the best cure for the ills attendant on the sale of liquor the Temperance Union president advocated the use on the ballot, "as it will give each district the right to be as dry as it wishes, and to enforce its regulations."

Mrs. Wheeler told the assembled delegates to vote "no" on proposition 2, which would make legal the serving of hard liquor by the drink, "with the pretense of a meal." Practices in this respect, such as the serving of rubber sandwiches, rubber doughnuts, and their like, are condoned, she stated.

Recommendations

Other recommendations were as follows: No. 4, which would give the attorney general the right to enforce state laws, "no." No. 5, ment on testimony to a question allowing judges the right to command said reverted to a question of election of the proper judges, as the law would work according to the man administering it.

No. 8, providing a constitutional convention for the purpose of changing the California constitution, "no," as she believed the state to be in too transitory a condition to warrant the change at this time. No. 9, providing the state board of education to be elected, and the superintendent of

CLUB WORK IS OUTLINED BY LOCAL LIONS

A general outline of the community service work of the Santa Ana Lions club for the coming year was sketched yesterday noon at James' cafe, when committee chairmen reported upon present and contemplated activities of the various groups.

Work for the blind and for young people will be carried on, the reports showed, together with various projects of a general community nature, as well as the usual club activities for the benefit and enjoyment of members.

A dozen white canes have been ordered and will be distributed free of charge to blind persons of Orange county, according to the report of W. M. Wells, chairman of the safety and blind committee. Applications for the canes should be made with Wells, Judge K. E. Morrison, E. M. Sundquist, or R. Carson Smith.

The Lions club has paid one-half the cost of clothing for a blind Mexican boy who has been sent to the Berkeley school for the blind, the Elks lodge paying the other half, the report further showed.

Possibility of securing lights for the Willard Junior High school tennis courts, and the cultivating of a more healthy feeling of community unity were mentioned by Carson Smith, reporting as chairman of the major activities committee.

Tom Andrews, for the juvenile boy's work committee, told briefly of the Boy Scout troop sponsored by the Lions club and in charge of Scoutmaster R. R. Russell.

A large attendance at the San Diego convention next year was urged by E. H. Rowland, chairman of the convention committee, who also mentioned the possibility of raising club convention funds from an annual entertainment or musical festival.

A series of six ladies' programs have been planned for the coming year by the entertainment committee, according to Joe Peterson, chairman, as follows: theatre party in October; steak bake at Irvine Park about Nov. 22; Ladies Day at the club meeting Jan. 19; anniversary party in March; Beach party in May, and installation party in June.

Other committee reports made to President Kenneth Morrison, who presided at the gathering, were made by Dale Decker for the program committee, Howard Barrows for the welfare committee, Ray Adkinson for the fellowship committee, E. H. Layton for the county council committee, Homer Chaney for the Lions' education committee, Vic Walker for the attendance and visitation committee, Ralph Raitt for the Junior Lions committee, Don Jerome for the athletic committee, Wayne Goble for the civic affairs com-

A meeting of members of the fire prevention committee was held yesterday at the chamber offices in the courthouse annex to outline plans for the contest.

The contest is part of the observance of Fire Prevention Week, to be observed in this city the week commencing on October 7.

Winners in the public schools fire drill contest last year were the Willard Junior High school and the McKinley grammar school. Competition was particularly keen in the elementary school group. It is anticipated that a special dramatics program featuring a playlet entitled "The Fire Next Door" will be presented in junior high schools this year.

Members of the committee expressed the hope that the cooperation of merchants can be enlisted in showing special window displays depicting fire prevention methods and hazards to avoid. An inspection of mercantile establishments is planned, self-inspection blanks to be distributed for completion and to be returned to the fire department.

"Santa Ana's fire prevention record in the past has been excellent and it is the plan of the chamber of commerce fire prevention committee to keep the record up," Henderson said.

Miss Hawthorne Wedded To Edward N. Lane At Home Rites

With only members of the family circle and a few close friends as invited guests, the wedding Wednesday afternoon of Miss Wauweta Hawthorne and Edward N. Lane was an event of charming simplicity held in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Hawthorne, 1035 West Eighth street.

Mrs. Hawthorne received guests as they assembled for the 2 o'clock rites for which the home was ablaze with flowers. An altar effect was arranged in the living room with palms as a background for tall baskets of snapdragons, chrysanthemums and gladioli in tones of pink and yellow. Flanking the flowers were wrought iron torches in which white candles flamed.

Mrs. Hawthorne was gown in soft blue sheer crepe and Mrs. Albert F. Lane, mother of the bridegroom, wore sage green.

At the appointed hour, the Rev. Harry Egan Owens, pastor of First Baptist church, took his place before the banked palms where he was joined by Miss Hawthorne and Mr. Lane for the impressive reading of the single ring ceremony.

Miss Hawthorne's loveliness was increased by her costume of metallic sheer fashioned with a long blouse of silver lace to which rhinestone buckles added the only decorative touch. Her bridal bouquet was of Briarcliffe roses whose filmy tulle ribbons formed a shower of lilies of the valley. Centering the roses was a cluster of orchids, which later added a smart touch to her traveling costume.

During the reception hour following the exchange of vows, guests were invited to the dining room, garlanded with roses and lighted with white tapers. The new Mrs. Lane cut the first slice of a beautifully decorated wedding cake on whose iced surface was seen the orange blossom motif. The final tier of the cake was surmounted by diminutive bride and groom figures. Mrs. W. A. Atkinson completed the cutting of the cake which was served with iced and dark cake by Mrs. H. W. Adams, Miss Marjorie Hawthorne and Miss Gladys Larmore.

When the newly wedded couple took their departure for an automobile honeymoon to be spent in San Francisco and northern points, Mrs. Lane wore a smart cape effect frock in brown sheer wool with beaver trimming, and brown hat, gloves and slippers.

Upon their return they will be at home to their friends after October 20 at the De Soto apartments, 1524 North Sycamore street.

Guests at the wedding included in addition to Mr. and Mrs. Hawthorne and Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Lane, parents of the young people, Miss Marjorie Hawthorne, Messrs. Lawrence and Philip Lane, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Atkinson, Miss Gladys Larmore, Miss Gladys Marguerat, Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Adams, of Puente, and Jack Travis.

Mr. Lane is proprietor of the fountain at McCoy's Drug store, 302 West Fourth street. His bride has been in the county agricultural department ever since concluding a business course several years ago. She and Mr. Lane have been complimented at a series of parties since announcement of the wedding date. The latest of these was a smart dinner at which George Reisch was host Sunday night in the Doris Kathryn.

Card Party Follows Kiwanis Luncheon

Attending Thursday's luncheon meeting of Kiwanis club at James' cafe, wives of members put on the program for the occasion and then adjourned to the gold room for an afternoon of cards.

Mrs. Theo. Winbigler, wife of the club president, had arranged the little party, during which auction and contract bridge and anagrams were played. Prize winners were fortunate indeed, for they received the big bouquets of flowers decking the rooms for the event.

The blossoms had been contributed by Mrs. Orlyn Robertson, Mrs. Charles Walker, Mrs. J. E. Paul, Mrs. Fred Newcomb and Mrs. Adam Zaiser.

Mrs. W. T. Kirven of Garden Grove, president of Fourth District P. T. A., attended the school of instruction of first district held yesterday in Long Beach, and gave a talk during the afternoon. Others attending from fourth district were Mrs. W. M. Kelsey of Garden Grove and Mesdames H. C. Drown, Russell Atkinson, J. C. Hallereth and Mrs. D. B. Carmichael of Santa Ana.

Mrs. D. C. Mattocks and daughter, Miss Robin Mattocks, of San Francisco, are visiting with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Carnahan, 501 East Walnut street.

County Constable Cornish Roehm, 2612 North Flower street, who has been confined to his bed for several weeks with serious illness, is now showing some improvement and will be able to see his friends for brief calls. A month ago he was taken to Murieta Hot Springs with the hope that he would benefit by the change, but as he showed no improvement he returned home where he has been bedfast ever since.

Making their September dinner an outdoor event, Sons and Daughters of Union Veterans joined last night in holding a covered-dish dinner at Anaheim park. About 60 members of the two groups, with their families, participated in the dinner, arrangements for which were in charge of Mrs. Luella Hill and W. I. Davis.

Accompanied by Miss Harriet Abrams, Miss Marjorie McDonald sang "Homings" and "Overtones." Miss Abrams played Chopin's "Raindrop Prelude" after which guests and hostesses returned to the patio. ## Afternoon of Quilting Followed by Picnic Supper

An afternoon of quilting during which fingers flew in time to lively conversation, was enjoyed this week by Past Presidents of Calumit auxiliary U. S. W. V. in the home of Mrs. May Glaze in Garden Grove.

As evening approached the busy women were joined by their husbands for the dinner hour, to which each Past President contributed some special dish. The resultant menu was enjoyed to the accompaniment of many flowers in harmony with the bowls of zinnias used throughout the home.

Bridge was the evening diversion, and when prizes for high scoring were awarded Mrs. Will Hannah and Charles E. Dixon, there was much amusement when it was revealed that second high scores were made by Mrs. Dixon and Mr. Hannah.

Miss Cartwright, who graduated from Santa Ana High school in June, left on August 30 for Missouri, accompanied by her father, H. S. Cartwright, called east on business and arranging his journey in order to be present at the wedding and give his daughter in marriage.

Thomas Neer is well known in this city where he was a student at Santa Ana Junior college last year, and where he has several relatives including City Patrolman Charles E. Neer, uncle.

10 tps. salt
11-2 cups flour
1-2 cup sugar
1-2 tsp. pepper.

—Contributed recipe.
I think those whole cloves and bay leaves ought to be tied in a little bag, or a tea strainer and kept out of the soup-at-large. Skin tomato and slice, run other vegetables through the food grinder. Cook the celery alone for 1 hour, add balance of vegetables with 2 cups of hot water and simmer until reduced to a pulp. Mix to smooth paste the flour, salt, sugar and pepper. Stir slowly into the vegetable puree and cook slowly for 30 minutes. Seal in clean hot jars. To serve, heat the contents of one jar, add a pinch of soda and combine with an equal quantity of hot milk. Season and add a bit of butter.

1 large glass currant jelly
1 cup boiling water
Juice of 1-2 lemon

1 egg white, beaten stiff

Combine jelly, water and lemon juice. Simmer until liquid, add gelatine softened in 2 tbsps. cold water and as soon as dissolved take from fire and chill until slightly jelled. Then stir in the egg white whipped with the powdered sugar, whip briskly, add the whipped cream and turn into a mould rinsed in cold water. Chill until firm. Serve with a creamy custard sauce, or with a spoonful of whipped cream and crushed nuts.

Baptist Pastor Named on Local Option Committee

ORANGE, Sept. 28.—The Rev. H. F. Sheerer, pastor of the First Baptist church, yesterday was appointed as one of a committee of two from the fourth supervisorial district on a central committee of the recently organized Local Option League of Orange county.

The Rev. Mr. Sheerer replaces the Rev. Franklin H. Minck, pastor of the First Christian church, on the committee. The other member from Orange is W. W. Perry.

In a statement made yesterday, the Rev. Mr. Minck stated: "I regret that I was not approached before the election last night. The advisory committee of my congregation feels that the press of duties already assumed in the church and elsewhere is such that I should not accept this additional obligation. Therefore, I am asking that some other person be appointed to the county Local Option committee in my place. Of course I am personally in favor of the Local Option amendment."

BRIDE-ELECT IS HONOREE AT SHOWER AFFAIR

Mrs. King received guests in her home, 1305 East Chapman street, where the big airy rooms were gay with flowers in autumn shades. Tables were placed for "500," in which pretty prizes were secured by Mrs. August Harms and Mrs. Louis Walker, holding first and second high scores.

Mrs. King, assisted by her daughter, Miss Lydia King, arranged the card tables for serving refreshments and the hospitable afternoon came to a close with the presentation to Miss Schumacher of the handsome linens selected for her by her friends.

ROTARIANS TOLD HISTORY OF LAMPS

ORANGE, Sept. 28.—Frank Van Gilluwe, Los Angeles, lighting engineer, was the speaker at the meeting of the Orange Rotary club Thursday, with J. J. Hutchins as the program chairman. Gilluwe gave a history of lamps and lights, beginning with the torch of the cave man.

An exhibit of lamps was an interesting feature of the meeting. Lamps included the first ever made, clay oil burning devices, up to the 10,000 watt-lights that are used in making motion pictures. A bronze lamp from the ruins of Pompeii, lamps from Colonial days and the more modern kerosene lamp were shown. History of real lighting began, the speaker declared in the 16th century.

A Frenchman putting a wine bottle over the flickering flame of a candle was responsible for glass enclosed lights, the engineer said. The first practical incandescent light was made by Edison in 1879, said Gilluwe, and 25 years elapsed before much improvement was made.

BUILDING CAMPAIGN SLATED TO START IN NEAR FUTURE; HOUSING ACT IS EXPLAINED

ORANGE, Sept. 28.—Plans for furthering the local campaign under the National Housing act were made at a meeting held last night, with H. A. Lake, of Garden Grove, president of the California Lumbermen's association, as the principal speaker.

The campaign will get under way following the return of Clyde Watson from the north. Watson was appointed to head the campaign by Gordon X. Richmond, president of the Orange Community Chamber of Commerce.

Lake emphasized the fact that leniency is to be extended to those who borrow money under the housing act and that if they are unable to meet their payments, time is to be extended and payments lowered.

The speaker stated that a letter had been received this week from James Moffatt, administrator of the act, stating that the plan to build new homes under the act would be set in motion about the first of November. Lake explained the workings of the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance association, which will be government controlled. In California 800 banks of the state have signed to join the insurance fund, he said. California building is a little on the upgrade, Lake stated. In the past year in a survey of 267 cities, building had been found to be but one-twentieth of normal.

Lake stated that the best example in the United States of what could be done in a renovating campaign had been a recent campaign in Santa Ana before the passing of the Housing act, when, at an expense of $1030, 10 men had contacted home owners of the city, securing 1250 signers to the program. At present, he said, work amounting to $400,000 had been completed of the $1,000,000 pledged.

V. D. Johnson stated that several applications for loans had already been filed with the local banks. Frank Watson, Orange man, who drafted the housing act, was praised in talks.

Richmond stated that it is expected that about $500 will be needed for the campaign and that of this sum, $300 will be donated by the city and the material men of the city will be assessed for the remainder. Financial, publicity, loan and survey chairmen will be appointed when Watson returns, Richmond said.

The altar was banked with palms and ferns and a candelabra on the altar held white tapers while similar tapers burned in torches on each side. Baskets of white larkspur and asters completed a color scheme of white and green.

Preceding the ceremony, B. E. Wunderlich played "March from the Hugenots" and sang as a solo, "Holy Spirit Breath of Love."

The bride was very lovely in a tight fitting gown of white satin, fashioned floor length with long sleeves and a deep bertha in cape effect. Her wedding veil was caught in her hair with a band of orange blossoms and her bouquet was a shower of white gardenias. Miss Ruth Liermann was maid of honor and she wore a pale shell pink frock and carried an arm bouquet of white sweet peas. The bridesmaid was Miss Irma Mueller, who was frocked in pale blue crepe and who carried a similar bouquet. Little Elaine Liermann was the flower girl. Gustaf Busch served the bridegroom as best man and Robert Liermann was usher.

After the ceremony a reception for relatives of the families of the bride and bridegroom was held at Walker Memorial hall, where ices were served with an elaborately decorated wedding cake. Following a short honeymoon trip the young couple will establish

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

Politically Speaking

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 28.—(UP)—Triumphant in their first major battle for control of the Democratic party, forces of Upton Sinclair, gubernatorial candidate, are prepared for one more party joust before advancing into the heated November campaign.

State central committees meet here Saturday, September 29, to elect chairmen and organize the parties. Sinclair wants C. L. Olson, Epic candidate for the legislature, to be chairman of the Democrats.

The position of state central committee chairman is considered the most important in the party, and there was a possibility that the Bourbon meeting would be another noisy affair, with anti-Sinclair members seeking to block the Olson movement.

For although the Democrats adopted Sinclair's platform—a compromise between the Epic plan and the new deal—there were many convention delegates who refused to go along with Sinclair. Four voted against the platform and were booed by the gallery crowd. Thirty-five refused to vote. Most of the 35 were believed to be opposed to Sinclair.

Similarly, opposition was expected at the central committee meeting, despite Sinclair's efforts to unite the party solidly behind him and his plans.

In comparison with the wild Democratic convention here, the Republican meeting was quiet and spiritless. The Bourbon show attracted the largest convention crowd the capitol ever witnessed. Sinclair drew deafening applause every time he entered, or talked.

Politicians and state officials said they never had seen a measure "steamrollered" more effectively than the Sinclair platform. Opponents were given no opportunity to submit substitute proposals. The platform was read by Sheridan Downey, lieutenant governor candidate. One additional plank was approved. A motion was made and seconded that the platform be adopted. During the bedlam that followed, Sanford MacDonald, Los Angeles anti-Epic, tried to present the Epic plan as a substitute. He was ignored. A vote was called and the platform adopted while galleteries cheered themselves hoarse.

Sinclair had the convention so well controlled that predicted battles were given no chance to materialize.

A big question now is: "How successful will Sinclair be in uniting the party behind him?"

Republicans made an open plea for Democratic support for Gov. Frank F. Merriam. They adopted a platform based on accomplishments of the special legislative session a week earlier. It was a liberal program devised to draw Progressives who might balk at supporting a reactionary candidate. There was no dissent.

Patrick J. Cooney, defeated candidate for attorney general and organizer of the first Roosevelt-for-president club, has voiced the possibility of Sinclair succeeding Roosevelt in 1940.

"President Roosevelt may need someone to carry on when he finishes his second term," Cooney said.

Although the Democratic platform did not mention EPIC, Sinclair and his supporters clearly were determined to continue waving the EPIC banner as the symbol of new democracy. During a love feast of party leaders after the convention, one speaker after another referred to the "great Epic victory."

"We are going to come into power with such force that the legislature cannot stand in the way of the people's desire," C. L. Olson said.

"One of the first things we want to do is clear the rats out of Sacramento," said Congressman Thomas Ford, Los Angeles.

"Republicans picked the right man for us—Merriam, the man we can knock over," said William A. Ward, Sacramento, candidate for state treasurer.

$500.00 FREE!

Jack Lackland Will Give $500.00 to a Californian!

Provided some Californian wins first prize in the Camay contest and provided she or he has stated in the prize winning letter that Orange County Market is her or his regular grocer.

Every Californian, and every Santa Ana woman, man or child has an equal chance with any other person in the United States to win first, or other of the 394 prizes in this Camay contest.

1ST PRIZE IS $1000 YEARLY FOR LIFE.

2ND PRIZE IS $1000 CASH IN ONE PAYMENT.

3RD PRIZE IS $750 CASH IN ONE PAYMENT.

4TH PRIZE IS $500 CASH IN ONE PAYMENT.

50 MORE PRIZES OF $100 CASH EACH.

500 MORE PRIZES OF $10 EACH.

On the law of averages 12 Californians will receive prizes in the Camay contest. Why shouldn't you be one of them? Even if you don't get first prize one of the lower amounts is certainly worth writing about, don't you think? And we repeat, that any Californian who wins the first Camay prize of one thousand dollars yearly for life will receive from me an extra $500.00 in groceries provided he or she has stated in the prize winning letter that Orange County Market of Santa Ana is her or his regular grocer.

(Signed) JACK LACKLAND, Mgr. Orange Co. Market.

A NEW CABINET OFFICER PROPOSED

The Co-ordinator of Transportation, Joseph B. Eastman, has suggested to the President the advisability of creating a new department of government, with a representative in the cabinet, which shall have the charge and the supervision of all the national means of transportation and communication.

There is nothing more important to the country than its facilities for transportation and communication. Upon these depend the welfare of producers and consumers alike. The ability to bring the market and the consumer together is one of the most necessary functions of an orderly society. The famines in China are largely the result of inadequate transportation facilities. When an American missionary effected the building of a good road from the coast to the province of Ashmi, thousands of lives were saved from starvation.

If agriculture, commerce, and labor need a place in the cabinet, it would seem as if transportation and communication would need it also. Such departments exist in almost all European countries. There, in the main, the railroads, the telephone, and the telegraph are owned by the government. In this country this is not so. But certainly the business of transportation, even though privately owned, is as much the concern of the people as is commerce, labor, and agriculture—all of which are in the control of private agencies.

Should the next Congress establish such a department, the man to organize it is already at hand. No man in the public service has dedicated himself so completely to the public interest as Joseph B. Eastman. He served through Republican and Democratic administrations with equal approval. By experience, by integrity, and by a concern for the people as a whole, Joseph B. Eastman is the man who can bring order in and restore confidence to the transportation system of the country.

A SIGNIFICANT ADMISSION

The Financial and Commercial Chronicle, the organ of the New York financial district, is not at all pleased with the course of events. It has found little to be cheery about since March 4, 1933.

In the last issue, in a box article of heavy-faced type on the editorial page, it predicts failure for the New Deal. Economic society, it avers, cannot be eased out of a depression. Any attempt to do so, as is being done by the administration in Washington, simply prolongs the agony of deflation necessitated by the inflation of the boom period which ended in October, 1929.

What interests us in the statement is the fact that it admits the folly of the period preceding the crash which has been the cause of all our economic woes ever since. It asserts that the folly of the inflation does not justify the folly of the policy of deflation now being carried on.

One is tempted to inquire why it did not exercise its influence over the men responsible for the earlier folly. Capital structures were being built up on worthless paper. Millions upon millions were being palmed off on innocent and uninformed people who have now lost their savings. Its pages were covered with the advertisements of flotations of loans which never will be repaid. Yet, after all this admitted folly, this paper objects to every law and every move designed to prevent the repetition of it. Surely something had to be done. Credit had broken down, millions were unemployed. We could not sit by while the country was going to the dogs.

NOT SO PLEASANT

We were almost sorry when we first heard the news that the American ship had won in the series over the British challenger. We had this feeling until we read the expression of the British skipper, T. O. Sopwith. He was such a contrast, in his attitude of mind to that old hero sportsman Sir Thomas Lipton. Sopwith says: "I'll never try again."

We can almost imagine Lipton groaning in his grave at such an expression and unfortunately it is not only evidences poor sportsmanship but we are rather of the opinion that Mr. Sopwith was angry at himself and taking it out on others. For without serious question the loss of the races as a whole by Mr. Sopwith was due not to the lack of swiftness of his boat, but to the poor manner in which the boat was handled. Certainly this is true of certain of the races.

This sport is in a sense not the sport of kings. Kings can hardly afford it. It is the enjoyment of millionaires. There is a feeling that it was not the best boat as a matter of fact, that represented our own country in these races. But unquestionably that boat represented the most millions.

While we regret to see the result of the contest produce this conclusion in the mind of the British challenger, yet there is probably no sport that would be missed less by the public at large than this international yacht race.

HOOVER STILL THE CHOICE OF STEEL LEADERS, BUT—

The magazine Steel took a poll of political preferences among the men attending the conference of Iron and Steel Electrical Engineers in Cleveland last week. While Hoover still continues to be the favorite among them, the figures, as compared with their expressed preference in the 1932 vote, is significant.

The poll shows that in 1932 412 of these men voted for Hoover. Today 314 would vote for Hoover. In the same situation, 207 voted for Roosevelt in 1932. Today 280 would vote for him. Norman Thomas increased his poll from 17 in 1932 to 24 today. And Foster, the Communist, increased from 1 in 1932 to 3 today. And yet the vote for the New Deal shows the opposite. Out of the 621 men polled, 458 favored the New Deal at the outset. Today only 282 favor it. Which bears out the general situation in the country, that Mr. Roosevelt has an increasing support throughout the country, while there has been a decreasing support for his policies. The reason is not far to seek. Mr. Roosevelt has been frank in stating that he is experimenting, and that he will change his policies when experience shows them to be ineffective. An increasing number of people have confidence in the integrity of the president, and they are willing to follow him until they can be shown that the opposing party has something better to offer. That is sound reasoning.

VIRGIN ISLANDS UNDER CARE OF UNCLE SAM

There is a program on for the economic rehabilitation of the Virgin islands. The other day United States government bought 2200 acres of cane land near St. Croix and gave a check through the Department of Justice of $90,000. Soon this company will be operating with government money. The plant and the land will be leased to the Virgin Island company at simply a nominal rental.

The news item continues as follows: The company will begin farming operations at Bethlehem in a few weeks. The purchase included mules, tractors and other machinery. The factory buildings and machinery will be repaired and the land put in shape for a renewal of sugar cane production.

This is one of a number of projects for economic rehabilitation of the islands to be undertaken by the company with $1,000,000 of PWA funds. The islanders remember President Roosevelt's interest in this factory during his visit, and they are jubilant over the government's acquisition, seeing in it the hope of a better living.

This would indicate that the government can hardly keep from carrying on some enterprises that will conflict with private enterprise.

THE BISHOP AND THE CLEAN-UP

Bishop Cantwell has given some expression along the idea that he believes that Hollywood is going to reform itself. Whatever appearance there may be of self-reformation in our Hollywood situation, has been rather induced, we believe, by the sentiment of the people of the country and the energetic activity led by the Catholic church.

Whatever work Will Hays or any of the rest of them are doing in putting their house in order, we are rather inclined to believe, is done to save it from the cyclone. And it may be that this idea is in the mind of the Bishop for he knows full well that while the Good Book says that the wicked flee when no man pursueth that he makes a whole lot better time, as a matter of fact, when somebody is after him. Eternal vigilance is the price of everything else worth while.

Babes Under Arms

Christian Science Monitor

Even those who consider themselves fairly pugnacious patriots may feel their sensibilities jarred by Premier Mussolini's latest contribution to militarism. A cabinet decree compelling Italian boys to begin training for war at eight years of age has just been announced by Il Duce, who declares: "The functions of a citizen and soldier are inseparable. . . . Military instruction is an integral part of national education."

The decree is another example of the extremes to which national ambition, coupled inevitably with national fears, can lead. Citizens of other nations may well deplore the development of militarism to such an extent as is indicated by the Italian Dictator's words and act. But they will profit more from a recognition that these are the natural outcome of the kind of education which is going on right under their own noses.

The training of a youth for war begins before he learns how to carry a rifle or adjust a gas mask. It begins in the development of nationalistic pride and belligerent thinking which are fostered in most schoolrooms among children no older than those to be turned over to the Fascist Balaia. In the guise of patriotism it permeates many school activities. It distorts historical fact in public school text books. It enlarges upon national and racial differences. It exalts the heroes of war, glorifies national accomplishment on the battlefield, celebrates with military pomp the holidays that recall scenes of strife.

Probably every country has its wooden-sword generals, its paper-hatted admirals, its pop-gun privates. It is not altogether certain that an education which would teach some of the actualities of warfare would harm children more than that which encourages pleasant fantasies about it. But it is time the world's leaders were enlisting the people's imagination in the cause of peace, not conscripting their small sons into machines of war. Premier Mussolini's action should be a warning to other peoples that the logical end of much current thinking is a bitter end.

In The Face Of Death

Pomona Progress-Bulletin

One of the most delightful human interest stories of the year comes—of all sources—out of the horror of the Morro Castle fire.

A passenger on this steamer was a fireman named Kempf. Testifying at the inquiry, Mr. Kempf told how he went overboard to escape the flames, accompanied by two girls. They drifted away from the ship, and one of the girls asked him, "Well, big boy, do you think we'll make it?"

And Mr. Kempf added, at the inquiry: "And if that girl is still alive I hope she will drop me a postcard right away. She was one swell red-head." There is something so refreshingly human about this story—this undaunted wisecrack in the very shadow of death—that one is inclined to agree, off-hand, with the fireman in his estimate of the red-head. Let's hope he gets his postcard—and, for that matter, a nice date for himself.

VOICING A COMPLAINT

When a man makes a mint growing onions
Or dealing in groceries or meat,
Or vending specifics for bunions,
Or winning a wad in the Street,
The fame that he gains never seems to suffice,
He thinks his great work is not done,
Till he dishes out maxims and peddles advice
As to how the old world should be run.

He may lack all the lore of the scholars,
No books may abide on his shelves,
Yet he seems to believe that his dollars
Sufficiently speak for themselves.
When matters go wrong in the country at large,
As matters too frequently do,
He always is sure that if he could take charge
He could pull the old populace through.

Lucky miners, successful tripevenders,
Men who've made many millions in hay,
Or have started by selling suspenders
Are constantly getting that way.
They invite in a crowd of the men of the press,
Put in stocks of gin, whisky and rum,
But these lads who are sated by tales of success
Can not be prevailed on to come.

I admit that I'd like to make money,
Say ten thousand dollars a week;
A life that is pleasant and sunny
Is the kind of soft life that I seek.
But if I were as rich as King Solomon was,
And had storehouses piled high with pelf,
I would not tell the world how to function, because I know I do not know myself.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLEN FRANK

IF I WERE A BUSINESS LEADER

I find myself in the strange plight of agreeing at one and the same time with the major objectives of the New Deal and with the major objections to it.

That is to say, I find myself in full concurrence with the announced aims of the National Recovery Act to spread buying power and to utilize to the full for human benefit our productive facilities, present and potential. But I feel also that any attempt to do all this through making the state the all-dominant factor in American life and enterprise is a threat to important values upon which the Republic has been built.

If I were a business leader I would be taking some action about it.

Here are some things I would not do:

I would not get up a propagandist organization to damn everything Democratic.

I would not put my trust in any opposition politician who sought to fight with outworn tactics of blanket indictments.

This is what I would do:

I would, beginning with a small and select group, bring the outstanding leaders of business, industry and finance together in what H. G. Wells called an Open Conspiracy. There would be no back-room secretiveness. I would say to my colleagues, "We know that the depression was not due to any failure either of nature or of productive genius. It was due to a breakdown in social management. That breakdown became so bad that the vast masses of people would stand it no longer. They demanded that somebody remedy the trouble. They turned to government. We honestly do not like the way government is trying to do the remedying. We think many of the perfectly honest intentions of the New Dealers will cause more trouble than they cure. Surely we have genius enough to draft an alternative program that will face frankly the sins of the pre-depression period, provide safeguards against their recurrence, and release the locked energies of our national economy for wide human benefit. Let's draft such a program and go to the country with it. If we cannot draft such a program, we have no right to pose as business leaders."

I am confident that I could select a score of men who could draft such a program. But will it be done? Or will the business leadership of the nation simply fall in with the old line tactics of political opposition, and, if successful, land us in confusion worse confounded? I hope not.

RECESS

Teachers are inclined to look upon recess as an interruption. Children look upon it as a heaven-sent release. The children are right. Sitting still is against child nature and the body and the spirit rebel. Little children, those in the first two years of the schools ought to have a rest spell every hour. They need to stand up and stretch and run and shout. The shout is necessary to free and clear their cramped lungs. They scrunch themselves together in the benches. Just watch them and see their shoulders rising toward their ears, the tension showing in their wrinkled foreheads. Let them out into the open air and don't say a word when they shout to let off the steam.

The older children need recess too. All young things are active and need to move about. The circulation improves by exercise and the whole boy is relieved. A few minutes respite and the class will settle down to work again in finer spirit and with greater power. Brains that are fed with sparkling blood, and blood sparkles when it is cleansed by fresh air, work with accuracy and speed. The brains that have to do their work without relief are neither swift nor accurate.

It is an unpardonable error to take a child's recess time from him. He must have that recess no matter how bothersome he has been. The truth is he ought to lead the line because he needs the recess more than the rest of them do. He has been telling you that all the time he was making paper wads and spit balls and losing his place and pulling Ethel's hair. Put him first on the line for recess and make him run off some of his excess energy.

Keeping in is a poor business. The teacher is tired at the end of the day. So are the children. Tired people do each other no good. It is better for the teacher to send the whole class out on the stroke of the bell, put on her hat and coat and follow them out and away. And never mind correcting that pile of papers every night. Once in a while papers have to be corrected. Often enough to allow the teacher to keep in touch with the progress of the class. It is unwise to take home bundles of papers night after night.

If the papers are corrected in the classroom where the children share in the work, the experience is useful. Otherwise it usually means a headache for the teacher and little else.

The teacher ought to have recess as well as the children. If she can get out for a few minutes of rest in the open air, with no care of the children on her mind, she will be all the better for it. If she has to supervise the recess herself then she would better turn to and share it with them.

Teachers are so dead in earnest about their work that they skip recesses for themselves and for the children. Education is a long slow process. A great deal of it goes on outside the school. Teachers cannot hurry it, nor can they shoulder the whole burden of it. Better take time out for recess. The work will be all the better and it will be accomplished just as soon.

(Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, enclosing a three-cent stamped, addressed envelope for reply.)
